Maastricht Disrupt is a non-profit student-led organisation that integrates design culture to provide a platform for creative problem-solving across real social issues. It is our mission to foster an exchange of accessible visions, knowledge and strategies between students, innovators, professionals and designers.

Based in Maastricht, we work at the core of the Meuse–Rhine Euroregion, a great location to put design culture into practice. This is exactly what we do at the second edition of our annual This Is Not a Design Conference on the 23rd — 24th of September 2017. This conference is dedicated to inspire and to explore the world of design on the overlaps with science and technology — explore design culture.

To put our vision into practice and to continue to grow we rely on private and corporate sponsors and partners. We provide an array of sponsorship options designed to fit your budget and your marketing objectives. Partners work with us more closely developing joint events and projects. Take the opportunity to be part of an innovative and creative environment, to stand out, learn from the latest developments and raise your profile within the international community of ambitious students.

If you are looking for a platform to enhance your talent acquisition efforts, networking opportunities and place your organisation at the forefront of innovation then Maastricht Disrupt and This Is Not a Design Conference is the right place for you.
